120 Nobel Prizes for Literature have been awarded since 1901, and the only Canadian to win it is Ontario's Alice Munro in 2013, the official Nobel citation recognizing her as the "master of the contemporary short story".

 She also won Canada's own literature prizes--the Governor General's award twice and the Giller Prize twice. Munro, who published 14 short story collections from 1968 to 2012, passed away on May 13, 2024 at age 92.

Northwest Animal Shelter (Nwas) Animal of the Week

Magnum

FOR ADOPTION: MAGNUM is a handsome, approximately 15 month old male that is looking for his loving forever family. This big fella was found as a stray over the winter. When no one claimed him his finder took him into her home as a foster to work on regaining his trust in humans. It was slow work at first but her dedication paid off and Magnum's friendly, cuddly and playful personality emerged. Magnum's finder already has a house full of pets and only took him in to help him get ready for his forever family so he moved into our care once he was comfortable with people. While Magnum was with his foster family we learned he is excellent with other cats and comfortable around small dogs. He has also been non reactive towards the calm large dogs he has briefly met while at the shelter. Magnum is a very friendly and affectionate cat. He thoroughly enjoys being pet and if you try to stop before he is ready he will grab your hand (without his claws) and pull it back towards him for more loving. Magnum is excellent with adults and teenagers, we've not had a chance to test him with small children but we think he will do well as long as they are able to give him time to warm up to them. Magnum seems quite comfortable indoor only and he could enjoy patio life or being indoor/outdoor in a safe area. He is neutered, vaccinated, tattooed and up to date on parasite control. If you've been looking for a large, affectionate feline apply today at www.NWAS.ca for a chance to meet MAGNUM.
