Fun Fact

Every fall a snowshoe hare's fur will start changing to a white color, usually starting at their feet. It takes about 6-10 weeks to fully change, depending on the location. The tips of their ears usually stay brown or black. The white color allows them to blend into the snowy surroundings and hide from predators. The shortening of the daylight hours is what will trigger the change, not the cold weather.

On this Day

In 1938, a 23-year-old Orson Welles broadcast The War of Worlds, a radio drama about martians invading earth near Grover's Mill in New Jersey. This breaking news report sounding so realistic that some listeners were said to have believed an actual invasion was taking place and contacted the police stations. Although the stories of the nationwide panic were later discovered to be untrue, this broadcast became one of the most famous moments in CBS's radio history.
